HOLLYWOOD'S LGBTQ+ History: Out of the Shadow & Into the Spotlight

Tuesday, June 4th | 7-8pm | Zoom | Click to register

For over a century, Hollywood and the films it produces have had a troubled history with both onscreen depictions and real-life interactions with the queer community. Presented by Frank Mandosa, a Massachusetts-based educator and film critic, this virtual talk explores not only the ongoing evolution of this dynamic before, during, and after the cameras roll, but also of different portrayals of the LGBTQ+ experience in films of all genres, past and present.

LGBTQ+ NEWS: Current Topics for Queer People & Their Allies

Thursday, June 13th | 7-8pm | Community Room | Click to register

The state of LGBTQ+ rights, particularly when it comes to social acceptance and understanding, is an ever-changing landscape. How do we wade through the confusion and frequent misinformation and show up for the community? Join us for a learning session around current events and issues faced by LGBTQ+ people, from the impacts of bias and bullying to drag queen story hours and queer representation on social media to "Don't Say Gay" bills. Informed allyship is effective allyship!

We Are Here, We Are Queer: A WPL Pride Film Series

Fridays, June 7th, 14th, & 21st | 6:30-8:30pm | Community Room | Drop-in

Come celebrate Pride at the Wallingford Public Library! Join us on Friday nights this June for a three-part film series centering on LGBTQIA experiences. We will feature the 2018 romantic comedy Love, Simon (PG-13) on June 7th, the 2023 documentary Every Body (R) on June 14th, and the 2018 Kenyan drama Rafiki (unrated) on June 21st. This series will showcase stories that bring awareness to the vast history, challenges, triumphs and dreams of those who identify as Queer. All are welcome; no registration required! #LibrariesAreForEveryone

For the Love of Mars: A Human History of the Red Planet with Smithsonian Curator Matt Shindell

Monday, June 3rd | 2-3pm | Zoom | Click to register

Mars and its secrets have fascinated and mystified humans since ancient times. Due to its vivid color and visibility, geologic kinship with Earth, and potential as our best hope for settlement, Mars embodies everything that inspires us about space and exploration. For the Love of Mars surveys the red planet's place in the human imagination, beginning with ancient astrologers and skywatchers and ending in our present moment of exploration and virtual engagement.

Matt Shindell will introduce us to historical figures across eras and around the world who have made sense of this mysterious planet. By focusing on the diverse human stories behind the telescopes and behind the robots we know and love, Shindell will show how Mars exploration has evolved in ways that have also expanded knowledge about other facets of the universe.

Matthew Shindell, Ph.D., is Curator of Earth and Planetary Science at the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum and co-hosts the Museum's podcast, AirSpace. Shindell is the author of For the Love of Mars: A Human History of the Red Planet (2023) and The Life and Science of Harold C. Urey (2019) and coauthor of Spaceships (2023), Our Future in Space (2023), and Discerning Experts (2019).

Psychological Thrillers and the Queen of Twist— An Author Talk with Freida McFadden

Thursday, June 13th | 8-9 pm

Zoom | Click to register

Join us as we chat with Freida McFadden about writing psychological thrillers and her bestselling Housemaid series, in particular the upcoming third installment in the series, The Housemaid Is Watching. Former maid Millie Calloway used to clean other people's houses, but now she lives in a wonderful new home. She and her husband saved for years to give their children the life they deserve. But there are strange things on their street. Their neighbor's maid is cold to Millie, and she is sure she sees a shadowy figure watching them. Her husband leaves the house late at night. And when she meets a woman who lives across the way, her words chill to the bone: Be careful of your neighbors.

#1 New York Times bestselling author Freida McFadden is a practicing physician, specializing in brain injury, who has written multiple bestselling psychological thrillers and medical humor novels. Her novels have been translated into over 30 languages. She lives with her family and black cat in an old three-story home overlooking the ocean, with staircases that creak and moan with every step.

Our partnership with the Library Speakers Consortium is funded by The Book Seller. Thank you for your continued support of our used book store!

Summer at the LIBRARY

Summer is the busiest season for the Library, and this year the staff have something extra to contend with. As summer planning got underway, the librarians began to notice strange sightings and occurrences throughout the library. Staff have reported sightings of aliens, cryptids, bats, and even a headless horseman roaming the stacks, while pirate ghosts have been spotted plundering the children's room. Library staff have been unable to find the root cause of these experiences. As the busy season approaches, staff have decided to accept these encounters as part of their new normal and will delay finding a solution until the fall. They have gone so far as to theme their annual summer program "Eerie Encounters." The Eerie Encounters summer program will consist of multiple programs that target each age group. All programs will run from July 1st-August 17th.

For Kids Entering Grades K-6:

Registration will begin on May 28th. When registering, you will be asked to create a username and password to access your summer reading account. You may begin logging books on June 17th and begin completing missions in the library on July 1st. The last day to log minutes, complete missions, and submit prize drawings is August 17th. Please ask at the children's desk if you have any questions or need help setting up your account.

To complete the program and earn a FREE book from the Wallingford Library's Book Seller, you need to read 600 minutes this summer. If you finish early, keep going! By reading 900 minutes, you will get a token for our prize vending machine. By reading 1200 minutes before the program officially ends on August 17th, you will earn a chance to win one of our Grand Prizes. For added fun, each week beginning July 1st, there will be weekly missions to complete at the library. Complete all of the missions to get another token for the prize vending machine.

For Babies, Toddlers, & Preschoolers:

Spend time reading as a family! For every 10 books your family reads together, you will earn a sea creature to add to our ocean, and once you've read 60 books, you will be entered into a drawing for a gift basket. You may read the same book more than once—we know that's how many preschoolers enjoy their favorite books.

For added fun, for every ten books you read (up to 60 books), stop by the library for a special scavenger hunt. Search around the tree for hidden pictures and earn a sticker for finding them all!

You can begin logging your books beginning June 17th. The last day to log books and submit prize drawings is Aug 17th.

Open Doors:

A Community Conversation on Affordable Housing

Wednesday, June 5th | 6:30-8:30pm | Community Room | Click to register

Join representatives from Wallingford's town government, service providers, realtors, homebuilders, and other neighbors for an open and honest conversation about the state of housing in Wallingford—our needs, opportunities, and concerns. If we want a community where everyone can afford a home, we need to hear your voice, your experiences, and your perspective about what options and solutions we can pursue together. Attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions about what "affordable housing" is and isn't, and learn the facts about who needs housing in Wallingford and what we can do about it together.

Wildlife & Connecticut's Changing Landscape

Tuesday, June 11th | 7-8pm | Community Room | Click to register

Paul Colburn, a CT DEEP Master Wildlife Conservationist will present a natural history of Connecticut from the early 1600's, when European colonists arrived, to the present day. He will describe the relationships between native species and Europeans, particularly in terms of habitat and harvest interactions. You will learn about Eastern mountain lions, coyotes, wolves, elk, white-tailed deer, black bears, and more. Paul will conclude by addressing the state of Connecticut's wildlife today, current habitat and population issues, and the challenges we face living responsibly alongside them.

New in Novels by Cindy Haiken

If you are viewing this newsletter digitally, you can click any of the book covers below to view them in the catalog.

In her 2010 novel Love in the Afternoon, Lisa Kleypas writes: "This is the smell of June... honeysuckle, green hay, wet linen hung out to dry." June is one of those transitional months, as schools let out for the summer and the weather shifts from the warm pleasantness of spring to hotter, beach-appropriate temperatures. And June also ushers in the start of the summer reading season, when lighter schedules and vacations free up much needed reading time. Here is a sample of the wonderfully long list of new novels scheduled for publication this month:

All the Colors of the Dark* by Chris Whitaker — 1975 is a time of change in America. The Vietnam War is ending. Mohammed Ali is fighting Joe Frazier. And in the small town of Monta Clare, Missouri, girls are disappearing.

Bear* by Julia Phillips — On an island off the coast of Washington, the lives of two sisters who are barely getting by are upended when a bear appears.

Becoming Ted* by Matt Cain — A predictable 43-year-old man reimagines his life and takes new chances on friendship and love after his husband leaves him for another man.

Caledonian Road* by Andrew O'Hagan — A Dickensian-esque story of the rise and decline in the fortunes of five interconnected families.

Devil Is Fine* by John Vercher — A man who is reeling from the death of his son inherits land that turns out to be a former plantation.

Enlightenment* by Sarah Perry — The friendship of two kindred spirits living in a small village in Essex, England is fractured by romantic entanglements.

Eruption* by Michael Crichton and James Patterson — A volcanic eruption is predicted to destroy the Big Island of Hawai'i and expose long-held, explosive military secrets.

The Glassmaker* by Tracy Chevalier — The story of a family of glassmakers from the height of Renaissance-era Italy to the present day.

Horror Movie* by Paul Tremblay — The only surviving cast member of a doomed 1993 film joins its Hollywood reboot three decades later, but reality and script blur as he remembers the bizarre events of the original movie.

How to Age Disgracefully* by Claire Pooley — A woman takes a job running the Senior Citizens' Social Club, but they are not the docile group she's expecting.

Little Rot* by Akwaeke Emezi — Five people try to survive in a Nigerian city after a sex party goes awry.

Margo's Got Money Troubles* by Rufi Thorpe — A young single mother becomes an internet sensation.

Middle of the Night* by Riley Sager — 30 years after the fact, a man tries to find out what happened the night his best friend disappeared.

The Midnight Feast* by Lucy Foley — A locked-room mystery set in The Manor, a luxury resort playing host to a range of characters with agendas and hidden pasts.

Parade* by Rachel Cusk — An artist achieves unexpected success after she starts to paint upside down.

The Road to the Country* by Chigozie Obioma — A shy, bookish student heads out on a rescue mission when his brother disappears during his country's civil war.

Same As It Ever Was* by Claire Lombardo — A 57-year-old married woman who has contentedly raised two kids in the suburbs has a chance encounter with the old friend who almost ended her marriage decades earlier.

Sandwich* by Catherine Newman — During a family's annual Cape Cod summer vacation, a woman finds herself in the sandwich generation between her kids and her aging parents.

Shanghai* by Joseph Kanon — After the violence of Kristallnacht in 1938, European Jews flee to Shanghai, the only port not requiring an entry visa.

Soldier Sailor* by Claire Kilroy — An exhausted mother is struggling while her son goes through the "terrible twos." Shortlisted for the 2024 Women's Prize for Fiction.

Also of note this month are the sequel to The Last Mrs. Parrish by Liv Constantine (The Next Mrs. Parrish), the 6th Lady Sherlock mystery by Sherry Thomas (A Ruse of Shadows), the 11th Kendra Michaels thriller by Iris and Ray Johansen (Flashback), the 18th Maisie Dobbs mystery by Jacqueline Winspear (The Comfort of Ghosts), the 24th Dave Robicheaux thriller by James Lee Burke (Clete), and new novels by Elin Hilderbrand (Swan Song), Susan Mallery (For the Love of Summer), Danielle Steel (Resurrection) and Beatriz Williams (Husbands & Lovers).

Lost by Michael Robotham

Wednesday, June 5th | 3-4:15pm | Community Room & Zoom

Discussion moderated by Professor and Author Carole Shmurak

After Detective Inspector Vincent Ruiz is pulled out of the Thames with a bullet wound in his leg and no memory of the shooting, let alone how he wound up in the water, he retraces both his steps and his prior investigation of a missing child.

To participate, contact Carole at cshmurak@gmail.com and put "Wallingford Mystery Book Club" in the subject line.

Classics Book Club

Watership Down by Richard Adams

Thursday, June 6th | 6:30-8pm | Collins Room and Zoom

Discussion moderated by Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken

Hazel is an average rabbit who finds himself thrust into an extraordinary situation when his friend Fiver foresees the destruction of their current warren. Hazel convinces just a few of his fellow rabbits to join him and Fiver in a quest for a new place to live. Each rabbit has a unique skill to contribute, which comes in handy as the group must overcome many obstacles in their hunt for a new warren. Richard Adams' debut novel is a classic tale of adventure, courage and survival.

Thursday Night Book Club

Romantic Comedy by Curtis Sittenfeld

Thursday, June 20th | 6:30-8pm | Collins Room & Zoom

Discussion moderated by Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken

Sally Milz is a 30-something divorcee who writes for The Night Owls, a Saturday Night Live-esque comedy show. After she and the handsome pop star hosting the show start to flirt, Sally sabotages their budding relationship, believing that beautiful women go out with averagely-attractive men, but never the other way around. Sittenfeld's bestselling novel was a Reese's Book Club pick and was named one of the best books of 2023 by NPR, USA Today and the Washington Post.

Drop-In Programs

Open Sew

Tuesday, June 4th | 6-8:30pm | Adults & Teens in Grades 9+ | Drop-in | Collaboratory
Do you like to sew? Join people who enjoy quilting and sewing at a casual "drop in" program anytime from 6-8:30pm in the Collaboratory. Bring your unfinished projects, either hand sewing or machine. There are 4 portable sewing machines (or bring your own) and lots of sewing supplies and tools provided by the library for your use. Stop by for 10 minutes or for the full 2.5 hours for a fun evening of sharing and learning!

Now featuring CRYPTIDS!

Max FAQs from Max Spurr

Q: I think I saw a cryptid around town!!
What should I do?

A: Stay calm! The Cryptids that have been seen around town seem harmless. I recommend you record this sighting by recreating it in your artistic medium of choice and entering it in this year's Some Assembly Required maker contest. This way the encounter will be documented, you can show off your artistic skills to the rest of the town, and you will be in the running to win great prizes!

In addition to our Cryptid category, the other categories this year are: Art, Best Looking Food, B&W Photography, Color Photography, DIY, Textile Arts, Upcycling, and Videography. Submissions must be made by email and will be collected July 1st through July 27th. Voting will take place on social media August 1st-17th, and winners will be announced on August 19th. Best of each category gets a $25 gift card to the Wallingford business of their choice, and the overall grand prize winner receives an additional $100 gift card. Full details are available on the Some Assembly Required page of the Collaboratory section of the library's website: walpublib.org/SomeAssemblyRequired

If you have a question for Max FAQs, let us know at the Information Desk or the Help Desk in the Collaboratory, or you can email it directly to me at mspurr@wallingfordlibrary.org.

Lottery Programs

Visit the June program lottery to register for the events below:
walpublib.org/JuneLottery2024

Unless otherwise noted, registration is required and programs are open to adults and teens in grades 9+. You may enter the Collaboratory program registration lottery from the 20th to the 22nd of the month prior. Participants will be selected via random drawing on the following business day. All others will be placed on the waitlist. Due to high demand, we may limit individual participants to one program per month.

If there are available seats after the lottery, registration will be directly through our online calendar.

Talking TED @ Home

Thursday, June 13th | 7-8pm | Adults | Registration required | Zoom

Click to register (after the lottery period)

Join librarian Cindy Haiken on Zoom to watch and discuss a popular TED talk. Once registered, you will receive an invitation to the Zoom meeting via email on the day of the event. In June, we will watch and discuss Norman Lear's "An Entertainment Icon on Living a Life of Meaning."

In the 1970s (and decades following), TV producer Norman Lear touched the lives of millions with culture-altering sitcoms like All in the Family, The Jeffersons, and Good Times, pushing the boundaries of the era and giving a primetime voice to underrepresented Americans. In an intimate, smart conversation with Eric Hirshberg, he shares with humility and humor how his early relationship with "the foolishness of the human condition" shaped his life and creative vision.

Registration Required

LOST IN THE WORDS

Part I of III: Under a Diverse Kanopy

by Chris Cierniewski

Listening suggestion:
Trees by twenty one pilots

According to entomologist Terry Erwin, “Forest canopies are arguably considered some of the most species-rich environments on the planet.” Like the diversity of plant and animal life that can be found in the tree tops, a similar diversity of human experiences can be found on the library’s movie streaming service Kanopy. Kanopy is free for all Wallingford Public Library cardholders to use. At the beginning of each month every account is credited 30 tickets which can be used to stream content. Most feature length films cost two tickets, which allows for streaming access of the selected film for 72 hours. Shorter films and TV show episodes may only cost one ticket each. The interface for Kanopy is elegant in its simplicity. In comparison with pay-for streaming services that constantly push the content they want you to watch or force you to spend hours trying to find something, Kanopy makes it easy for the indecisive to find content by guiding users through a series of genre tabs that become more refined until you find the movie that most appeals to you. Best of all, there are never any ads!

Kanopy’s strength also lies in its curation of foreign films. The service features Oscar-nominated films like Everything Everywhere All at Once and Past Lives. Although mostly in Chinese and Korean respectively, there is enough English peppered throughout these two films to act as a primer or segue for audiences who are new to reading subtitles. Kanopy is a great place to find earlier works from prolific directors such as Hunt for the Wilderpeople which was directed by Taika Waititi before he joined up with Marvel Studios.

After having read Albert Camus’ The Stranger for the first time I decided to watch the Italian film The Battle for Algiers to better understand the politics of French-occupied Algeria during the mid-20th century. Although made in 1966, the film’s anti-colonial message still resonates today. I followed this up with another Italian film, 2022’s The Eight Mountains. The story follows the lives of two friends from a small village in the Italian Alps. As they become teenagers one of the boys decides to move to Turin to pursue his dreams, thinking the village is too suffocating with its traditions, while the other decides to remain in the village his entire life, establishing a family and enjoying solitude in the mountains. The film contrasts these two different lifestyles at various intervals by showing the fulfillments and the heartaches of each man with the acknowledgement that no one person will ever get to experience both lives. If you’d like to pair this Italian film with the French philosopher, I’d suggest Camus’ The Myth of Sisyphus which is also about finding happiness on the metaphorical mountain.

And because everything works better in threes, the final Italian film I watched recently was 2014’s Darker Than Midnight which follows an androgynous teen who is rejected by his parents because of his gender expression. However, he finds friendship among a group of prostitutes on the streets of Catania. Pair this one with Camus’ Exile and the Kingdom, a collection of short stories about feeling alone in society.

There is no shortage of queer cinema on Kanopy, which delightfully has LGBTQ+ stories for every culture. On June 21st the library will be showing Rafiki as part of WPL’s Pride Film Series organized by WPL’s Outreach Coordinator Dune Bryant (more info on the cover). Rafiki is a 2018 Kenyan coming-of-age film about two women who fall in love. The story follows their budding romance as it comes under attack by neighbors and local political leaders. Aristotle and Dante Discover the Secrets of the Universe is a 2022 adaptation of the 2012 novel about two Mexican-American teens who fall in love over one summer and explores the kaleidoscope of messy and beautiful feelings that everyone feels when they realize they are in love for the first time.

The Blue Caftan is a 2022 Moroccan film about a married man who develops feelings for his apprentice. The film sensitively demonstrates that it is never too late to become who you are. See page 2 for more LGBTQ+ films available on Kanopy selected by Dune.

Among Dune’s LGBTQ+ recommendations is Neptune Frost, which, in addition to being LGBTQ+ is also an allegorical sci-fi film featuring an Afrofuturism aesthetic. In a beautifully surrealist way it shows how even as technology advances, damaging societal structures remain in place. Kanopy has a variety of sci-fi films including the Lithuanian film Vesper, which imagines a dystopic world in which humans have embraced bioengineering that is more plant-based than machine-based. As a side effect of this bio-engineering, plants are only able to grow for one season before dying—but the protagonist, Vesper may have found a solution to re-seeding the world’s vegetation.

The German film I’m Your Man explores the idea of human-like AIs becoming companions for humanity. The film’s protagonist must test and evaluate one of these companion AIs over the course of three weeks in this romantic dramedy. While some films portray their robots as being too human and others portray them as too much of an algorithmic machine, I’m Your Man lands somewhere in the uncanny valley similar to having a discussion with Chat GPT. The AI in the film sounds nearly human except for the occasional odd word choice or subtle misinterpretation of a question.

Aside from indie films Kanopy is also a great way to discover classic cinema such as 1927’s Metropolis. One of the earliest sci-fi films that only seems to become more relevant with age, Metropolis examines the dangers Artificial Intelligence can bring to a non-egalitarian society. Utilizing the “New Tower of Babel” to symbolize the separation of the elite and working classes, the film reminds us that “the mediator between the head and the hands must be the heart.” Mid-century classics on the service include The Graduate, Roman Holiday, and Dial M for Murder. And for any Anglophiles reading this, you will be charmed to know the cryptic British sci-fi series The Prisoner is also available.

In addition, Kanopy has a whole side of the platform dedicated to Kids with a variety of animated shows from PBS like Franklin the Turtle and Reading Rainbow. Kanopy is also home to the films of Laika Studios, most well-known for their stop-motion films Kubo and the Two Strings and The Boxtrolls. Anime fans will find plenty to love such as Patema Inverted, which is perfect for anyone who has exhausted the library of Studio Ghibli. Kanopy even hosts the oldest surviving animated film The Adventures of Prince Achmed. Produced by the German film director Lotte Reiniger in 1926, it features the first use of the multiplane camera, which Reiniger invented years before the Walt Disney Studios’ first usage in 1937.

Each month Kanopy also highlights a certain genre of cinema. While June typically features selections of LGBTQ+ films to coincide with Pride month, the May highlight is musicals. Some of the notable world cinema musicals available include Sound of Noise, a Swedish comedy in which the characters use public music as a form of protest, and Black Orpheus, a musical retelling of the Greek myth set during Rio de Janeiro’s Carnaval.

The most recent film I’ve watched on Kanopy as of this writing was the meditative 2023 Vietnamese film Inside the Yellow Cocoon Shell. On a pilgrimage to bring his dead sister-in-law’s body to the village where she grew up, the protagonist grapples with his personal beliefs. The work features some of the longest shots I’ve ever seen in a film, ranging from a static dinner table scene to an extended bike ride without camera cuts. There is even a shot lasting several minutes depicting only a pair of roosters with the sound of the wind rustling the tree tops.
